India based healthcare website hacked

DAJIWORLD

NEW DELHI: In a startling revelation, US-based cyber security firm FireEye said on Thursday that hackers broke into a leading India-based healthcare website, stealing 68 lakh records containing patient and doctor information.

Without naming the website, FireEye said cyber criminals -- mostly China-based -- are directly selling data stolen from healthcare organisations and web portals globally including in India in the underground markets.

"In February, a bad actor that goes by the name 'fallensky519' stole 6,800,000 records associated with an India-based healthcare website that contains patient information and personally identifiable information (PII), doctor information and PII and credentials," FireEye said in its report shared with IANS.

Between October 1, 2018 and March 31, 2019, FireEye Threat Intelligence observed multiple healthcare-associated databases for sale on underground forums, many for under $2,000. FireEye said it continues to witness a concerted focus on acquiring healthcare research by multiple Chinese advanced persistent threat (APT) groups.

"In particular, it is likely that an area of unique interest is cancer-related research, reflective of China's growing concern over increasing cancer and mortality rates, and the accompanying national health care costs," the cyber security agency noted.

Open source reports indicate that cancer mortality rates have increased dramatically in recent decades, making cancer China's leading cause of death.

As the People's Republic of China (PRC) continues to pursue universal healthcare by 2020, controlling costs and domestic industry will surely affect the PRC's strategy to maintain political stability," said the FireEye report.

Portfolio allocation trouble for Chief Minister Yediyurappa

DAJIWORLD

BENGALURU: Karnataka chief minister, B S Yediyurappa, who has finally expanded his ministry, is facing a new challenge, that of allocation of portfolios. As some senior ministers and disqualified legislators have been insisting on some specific portfolios, Yediyurappa is in a fix.

It is said that the BJP leaders had promised the rebel MLAs to allocate to them portfolios as per their choice, before the BJP government was formed. As they have been disqualified, these legislators cannot be made ministers till their applications before the Supreme Court are decided.

Yediyurappa has expanded his ministry, duly keeping ministerial vacancies unfilled to accommodate the disqualified legislators later. It is said that he is now faced with the necessity to keep important portfolios unfilled till the petitions of the disqualified legislators are decided.

There are rumours that veteran BJP leaders like Jagadish Shettar, R Ashok, K S Eshwarappa, Govind Karjol, Basavaraj Bommai and others have been seeking portfolios like revenue, home, PWD, water resources, rural development and panchayat raj, energy, agriculture and Bengaluru development.

Out of 17 disqualified MLAs, the BJP is under obligation to accommodate at least 50 percent among them in the ministry and allocate to them important departments. As the chief minister is engaged with the delicate issue of distributing the portfolios, it is said, there is delay in allocating portfolios among the newly sworn-in ministers.

In the midst of the chaos that are prevailing in the state BJP over the denial of minister berth for senior leaders, chief minister B S Yediyurappa is scheduled to fly to Delhi on the evening of Thursday, August 22 to discuss the final allotment of portfolios with the home minister Amit Shah. This was confirmed to the press by the CM himself.

The trip of CM to Delhi, which is the third in a month, is an indication of the stronghold of Amit Shah over the political affairs of the state. It may be recalled that Yediyurappa rushed to Delhi a few days ago to finalize the names of the ministers to be inducted into this cabinet and now is going again to seek permission for the allotment of portfolios. During the first trip, however, Yediyurappa was asked to go back to the state, without any discussion and manage the flood situation.

Ironically, the disqualified MLAs of JD (S) and Congress are also in Delhi to push their case of early settlement of their issue from the court as well as demands of cream of the portfolios to be given to them.

Hindi dept to hold workshop on of language efficiency in media

JESLIN

CAMPUS: The Department of Hindi along with Hindi Sangha at SAC is organising a workshop on the topic 'Efficiency of languages in media' on Friday for a lecture on this topic that will be delivered by RJ Ajay Pillay, from Radio Mirchi 98.3 FM and VJ Hisrar Tallani, from Hisrar Events and Celebrations, Mangalore.

Dr Dennis Fernandes, director of Admin block will be the guest of honour.

The workshop is being coordinated by Roicy Braggs and Sandhya Sirsikar of Hindi department. "

This is a very important topic as it is about the official languages used in media and how they are used to communicate with readers, listeners and viewers.

In All India Radio, for instance, there are certain languages that are used and a procedure that is followed while addressing the listeners. VJ Hisrar will also give a motivational speech regarding communication.

The aim of this workshop is to bring people from all communities together and give them inspiration," said Ms Sirsikar.

Noorain, a student in-charge for this workshop from first year BA said, "I feel this has been a brilliant and different move from the Hindi department and Hindi Sangha, as in our College we see many students of different cultures and languages staying together under one roof and it is essential for youth to know the efficiency and importance of these languages in media."

Although media give learners access to authentic language utilized in real life, they convey pre-planned ideology with themselves. It is recommended that teachers provide analytical framework to help students.
